

I like talking and listening to others	I like maths	I like literacy	I like being creative	I like being kind and helpful	Time to get physical
* Listen to different dinosaur sounds- can you predict which type of dinosaur they could be (herbivore or carnivore)?	*Can you compare the sizes of several dinosaurs –who was the biggest, medium - sized and smallest?	*Can you learn how to say a simple nursery rhyme in another language? (e.g. Spanish)	*Can you make a dinosaur mask or part of costume? (e.g. feet)	* Can you help prepare a meal for your family?	*Can you perform a dance to your favourite piece of music?
*Discuss and research dinosaurs- who's the expert in your family?	*Can you create a chart to show the way you have travelled to different places this week?	*Can you find a poem/ rhyme/ song about dinosaurs?	*Using junk modelling materials, create your own dinosaur	*Could you say hello and goodbye in a different language? (e.g. Spanish)	*Work on your ball skills- can you throw, catch and bounce a large ball?
*Retell a story from the beginning, through the middle, to the end	*Can you share fairly across three or more people in your family? (e.g. how many spoons of ..... can each person have?)	*Write some facts and make a fact file about a favourite dinosaur	*Make your own map - where might a dinosaur stomp?	*Can you help your family around the house? What jobs can you do?	*Can you travel across a balance beam/ climbing frame safely?
*Ask an expert: how, who, what, where, why and when questions about how the Earth has changed since the dinosaurs	* Can you measure how long it takes to travel to different places? (e.g. the local shop, the walk to school, a trip to the library)	*Take a trip to your local library- can you find any stories or information books about dinosaurs?	*Print some different dinosaur footprint shapes and play guess the dinosaur	* Can you notice other people's feelings? (e.g. If someone was upset- how did you help them?)	* Work on your skipping skills- can you use a rope yet?

GLAM Mission Question: Where on Earth are all the Dinosaurs?